

Intern Aviation Consulting (m/f)

immediately for up to 6 months

Rio de Janeiro (Brazil)

WELCOME to the world of Lufthansa Consulting, the international consultant for airlines, airports and related industries. Lufthansa Consulting delivers customized business solutions to the aviation industry.

During the internship you will be based in our office in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil and the Brazilian citizenship is a requirement.

Depending on the project requirements you might also work on-site in our project and target markets.

You will work independently and will be responsible for individual tasks within our project, research and sales activities. By doing so, you will act as a full-fledged team member and will provide crucial support throughout all our tasks and assignments.

The internship will offer you the opportunity to gain an in-depth and comprehensive insight into project work. You can expect an interesting and multidisciplinary assignment for a leading aviation consultancy.

We are looking forward to working with you!

Your profile

- Excellent student with Bachelor degree in economics, business administration, engineering or logistics and enrolled in a Master program (or similar) / or close to completing Bachelor degree
- Enrollment at a university during the entire internship (mandatory)
- First work experiences through relevant internships preferably in the areas of consulting, aviation, logistics and/or finance
- Study and/or work experience abroad
- Extracurricular commitment
- Very good MS-Office-skills (especially MS Project, PowerPoint and Excel), Internet research skills
- Very articulate in speech and writing, very good spoken and written Portuguese and English.
- High level of independence, very good social and cooperative conduct, ability to work in dynamic teams
- Ability to quickly familiarize yourself with new topics and areas
- Strong analytical skills, assertiveness, convincing and service-oriented manner
- Ability to present complex issues accurately in written and spoken communication
- Creativity to develop new and individual solutions

About Lufthansa Consulting GmbH

Lufthansa Consulting is one of the world's leading management consulting firms in the aviation industry. International airlines, airports, aviation authorities and suppliers, banks and investors are among the company's clients. The multinational team of experts offers solutions for all aspects of flight operations and also advises industry-related companies. These include the topics of strategy development, monitoring of change processes, operational processes and their enhancement, privatization consulting, development concepts and market studies with the aim of positively and sustainably influencing the future business of their clients.

www.lhconsulting.de

If this is you, please apply online.

Be who you want to be
Be-Lufthansa.com

Bitte bewerben Sie sich auf
Be-Lufthansa.com unter der
Jobnummer P0549V001J02